

THE RECORD

ARTS EDITOR: PHILIP BAST
894-2231 EXT. 2630
pbast@therecord.com

SECTION C

ARTS

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27, 2005

TELEVISION - C4
Is A&E's Biography
bottoming out on sex?

Jaclyn Conley: The Hiltons.

Showcase

Soheila Esfahani: Poetic Composition.

CAMBRIDGE

Twelve of the province's most promising artists are showcasing their work in Cambridge.

The show — it's called Showcase — is running until Oct. 9 at Cambridge Galleries in Queen's Square. Admission is free.

"It's intended to be a snapshot that exhibits a variety of fresh, new work from artists in the early phase of their career," said Lisa Mahoney, a coordinator at the gallery.

"These are artists on the cusp of making a mark."

The exhibit is the creation of gallery curator Ivan Jurakic. He picked the artists from a pool of 147 applicants, choosing 12 from across Ontario. He made the selection in consultation with David Liss, curator and director of the Museum of Contemporary Canadian Art in Toronto.

The 12 artists are presenting a variety of works, including paintings, photographs, sculptures, installations and videos.

Phil Delisle of Kitchener is a local artist in the group. Also showing are Jaclyn Conley, Robyn Cumming, Soheila Esfahani, Insoon Ha, Jason Hallows, Ayako Kurokawa, Steven Laurie, Zeke Moores, Kristine Moran, Olexander Wlasenko and Jinny M.J. Yu.

The gallery is at 1 North Square in the Cambridge Library and Galleries building in the downtown Galt area of Cambridge. For more information, phone 621-0460.

Phil Delisle: How to Make a Painting. Acrylic on canvas.

Robyn Cumming: In Place. Untitled works from the series.

Zeke Moores: Controls.

Steven Laurie: Rubber Burner. Horsepower engine, steel, rubber tire, enamel, chain drive.

Jinny M. J. Yu: Me(n)tal Perspectives. Graphite and oil on aluminum.

Jason Hallows: Ore. A narrative about a mining town in Northern Ontario where the artist used to live.

A picture worth a thousand words.

Order Record photos for your own collection today.

For 2, 5x7 reprints or
1, 8x10 reprint:

$30
+ taxes

To order photos visit
THE RECORD at 160 King St. E.,
Kitchener. For more information call 894-2250 ext. 2569

* Discount applies for multiple orders. Photos must have been taken by a Record Photographer.

THE RECORD
WORDS TO LIVE BY.